

From what little I have heard on the radio, it seems the FCC is poised to make changes in regulations in order to allow more media monopolies. I don't know the particulars, but I've heard some debates on the radio. I also understand that Chairman Powell has stymied efforts for more public hearings and debate and, further, that the complete text of the proposed changes hasn't even been released to the public.

This is a disgrace. I don't like drawing conclusions on something until I know more about it, but from what I've heard so far I am deeply disturbed that the end result will be even more concentration of media ownership. This is dangerous to democracy, and I oppose it--as I am sure most of the people of this country would if they knew what was going on.
